

Patricia Miller

Director of Development

Patricia Miller brings a lifelong dedication to building strong communities and preserving the stories that define them. As Director of Development for the Keepers of Burnt Island Light, she oversees fundraising and strategic growth to ensure that the island's historic lighthouse — and the education programs it inspires — continue to thrive.

Throughout her career, Patricia has helped nonprofits in Maine, Ohio, and South Carolina strengthen their roots through successful campaigns, endowment initiatives, and long-term giving programs. Her work is guided by a deep belief in the power of connection — between people, history, and place — and by a love of Maine's rugged coast, where every light has a story to tell.
